

Research Philosophy

Andrew Rosen

I find great value in abstracting techniques and platforms even further, as that makes it possible to see novel applications for various technologies. This can be seen in my work on Distributed Hash Tables, where I showed that DHTs can be mapped to Voronoi Tessellations and Delaunay Triangulation.